THURSDAY JULY 9 1863.

ARGENTINE INDEPENDENCE

In celebrating the 47th anniversary of that memorable day when the patriot senators of La Plata, assembled in the Cabildo of San Miguel de Tucuman, and declared the independence of this country from the Spanish crown, we cannot content ourself with simply congratulating our Argentine friends on so happy an occasion. Casting a retrospective glance on the history of the Republic, we are tempted to enquire what benefit have Argentines reaped from independence? And it were better to close the disgraceful chronicle of dissensions, which resulted in tyranny, and wide spread immorality, which set a ban on industry and fostered only the successful machinations of ambitious demagogues or political leeches.

In half a century the population has increased a mere trifle, not quite 11 per cent, while the United States, Canada, Australia and New Zealand have accomplished their statistics. If we subtract immigration, we shall find the natives, so far from fulfilling the Divine precept to "increase and multiply," have fallen off by one-half. We never much indeed, of hospitality to foreigners, but Argentines keep so irregular and noisy a house, that few persons would care to for other climes less favored by nature. This is the reason why La Plata, instead of having a population of many millions, is for the most part a howling wilderness, little more civilized than Ethiopia, and man bring scarcely one-third the inhabitants of Siberia.

Yet industry is much more backward than population: we find 64,000 white settlers in the West Indies export double the total produce of the Argentine Confederation with its 1,500,000 souls. While the exports of this country average £4 per head, the former ratio gives the amazing figure of £120 It would be unjust to conclude that one Englishman possesses the energy, genius and industry of 40 Argentines, although the Board of Trade returns hint as much.

There is yet another standard whereby to measure national progress, and that is public spirit and morality. We would willingly be spared an observation fraught with bitter truth: but really there is not a spark of public spirit from Jujuy to Cape Horn. It is not surprising that paupers politicians of the interior make a trade of patriotism (?) when we see in this centre of South-American civilization whole families living on the public purse, monopolising employments under the rules that they were martyrs to the late tyranny: they now reap their eternal reward. Meantime it is impossible to collect 1000—nay, 100—doubloons for any public object, and they make rejoicing over £30 contributed at a meeting, while poor Dublin gives in one day £30,000 to aid the Pope.

Morality is at so low an ebb that the churches are converted into rock-pits at an election, or theatres on ordinary occasions. Those who eat the bread of the State conspire against its life, and those who are divested of preferment make a pretext for revolution. Insane doctrines are promulgated by papers in pay of Governments, individuals lolling public offices commit the greatest atrocities of internal and war, religion is ridiculed, peace is constantly mutinied, and political economy is exploded!

While the whole world has been making gigantic strides, this Republic can hardly show a stunted railway, a few peach plantations, a handful of respectable edifices, and some flocks of sheep, which, however, are due only to foreign settlers. A country boasting such unrivalled gifts of Nature, enjoying the full benefit of self-government, can give no account of those talents whereof Heaven will exact a rigorous a return.

But if our enquiry, touching this past half century, induce the blush of shame that the sacrifices of blood, treasure, and toils, on the part of the patriots of 1810 were sterile, or contributed by unworthy agents, there is still hope for the future. Far back on our Post office, for the loss of more blessings is it to give counsel than several letters on i copies of the illus- to recriminate, and we seek rather to trated Journal of News—also a demand of pierce the veil of destiny, by anticipating great things for La Plata, than the National Government, whether in reminding our adopted countrymen of or repudiated by President Mitre the errors and sins of the past.

The first requirement of this country is peace, and every friend of disorder should be whipped by the hangman, whether the offender be a doctor of laws or a naked gaucho

The second requirement is labour, by which object all liberal minds pay a heavy tribute, and the industry of the country be protected against the rivalry of foreign imports. Cotton, tobacco, sugarcane, sugar, and wine, may be raised in abundance, if stimulated, not oppressed, by the National Government.

The third requirement is immigration, and all jealousy or fear of foreign colonists should be laid aside: rather, let inducements be held out to industrious Europeans, as by the United States and English colonies

The fourth requirement is public conveyance, such as railways, to transport our products to the marts of commerce, and give additional value to the lands and fruits of the interior But why prolong the subject? We might recite a hundred wrote, which are so notorious to the inhabitants as they have been hitherto neglected. The Argentine Republic must turn over a new leaf. After 60 years of infamy and bloodshed, it is time the inhabitants endeavour to earn a character for peace and humanity. Good advice is not always pleasant, and the surgeon probes the wound he would heal. If patriotic counsels and strictures follow the programme of an impartial, well-meaning foreign journal, the "Independencia" Argentina" will not be without a give splendid returns; but if the counsels of designing adventurers prevail, we have a moral conviction that the Argentine Republic must sink forever as a magnificent delusion and a traditional farce

LATEST FROM ROSARIO.

In the "Ferro-carril" of the 7th, we have some particulars about the battle of Las Playas. The Cordoba infantry fought manfully for the Chacabuco and New Zealand horse completed their statistics. If we subtract Paron, fed, in the hottest of the fight, from the battle-field. He is supposed to be insane and unlikely to be fallen off by one-half. We never much indeed, of hospitality to foreigners, but Argentines keep so irregular and noisy a house, that few persons would care to for other climes less favored by nature. This is the reason why La Plata, instead of having a population of many millions, is for the most part a howling wilderness, little more civilized than Ethiopia, and man bring scarcely one-third the inhabitants of Siberia.

Yet industry is much more backward than population: we find 64,000 white settlers in the West Indies export double the total produce of the Argentine Confederation with its 1,500,000 souls. Aberrastain at Positos. He has appealed against the sentence, and the S. Juan tribunals, fearing there will be no justice, have remitted the case to the National Executive. Angel Solanzos, accused of stabbing Sandez in San Luis some time ago, was captured in Rioja, and his process is already on foot.

Capt. Veron made his journey on horseback from Rosario to B. Ayres, 75 leagues, in 33 hours: this was certainly a feat.

By the last returns of Rosario, for June, are Entries 73 vessels, 8 in ballast. Sailings 62, in ballast 33. Passengers arrived 381, left 180.

The Rosario agency is in fierce activity: there is still hope for the future. per cent value coming from Salta to Rosario.

EDITORS' TABLE.

The monster meeting and monster collection on Sunday for Flores has had a monster effect. The Orientals in town feel so monstrously humiliated that they express the most monstrous disgust at the monster originators of the whole affair. Flores will be monstrously annoyed and Pavo monstrously surprised when they read in the monstrous morning paper this monstrous account of the monster meeting and monstrous collection for the monster Regenerator.

We always did say that this was the most extraordinary country on the face of the globe. If any one doubts the assertion let them read Mr. Billinghurst's advertisement respecting Mr. Klappenbach's auction sale. Mr. H. offers for a quinta upon which a mortgage was effected for 50,000 dols, some forty years ago, when 24 paper dollars went to an ounce. Owing to the confusion of the times, both parties as to the future value of the silver or paper money, it was mutually agreed that the mortgagee foreclosed he should be sold the property, on the other hand if the mortgagor wished to discharge the liability he should pay it in silver.

As matters stand, neither party is anxious to evince a disposition to get paid, and as Mr. Billinghurst rather revelled in the idea of continuing to remain on the property till the day of judgment. The interest is small, only 3 per cent, and the property is good security for the amount. This extraordinary mortgage could only be effected in Buenos Ayres.

The fight between the two armies in calle Bolivar, the other night, as to the state of the weather and the hour, was something like the row going on at present in the Senate, as to reports about the Flores meeting on Sunday. The fight is rather amusing: first, the Nacion hits the Tribuna between the eyes, the Tribuna in return a blow from behind from the Nacion Then the calle Victoria people strike on right and left giving the Nacional an and El Pueblo blow, which scrimmages the poor fellow into the gutter the melee becomes general, the Nacion Argentino takes a hand in the fun, whilst the other two are kicking and hitting until at last, owing to the slippery nature of their understanding, the whole tribe get sprawling in the mud! A dapper little gentleman, called La Progress, passing by, raises them from their degradation, and cautions them from meddling with subjects about which they all seem to know so little.

We have another opera company which I am told is to establish itself here. We cannot approve of this pro, riety of bringing two opera companies into town as we doubt if we are able to support one. Never since the Colon was built was an opera brought here that was worth more care and expense than Norma at the Victoria night. The public had due notice of it through the papers, yet notwithstanding this, Casa Pepe knew nothing to an empty dress circle, what never occurred to our Zampillerestation here. If we want to enjoy music, we must be willing to support it. Madame Medori in Norma, even in Europe, attracted the greatest praise, whilst here in Buenos Ayres a few parties take upon themselves to criticise upon a woman's singing, just as if they were the most experienced critiques of Paris.

The news per Paraguay will be found in another column, things appear very quiet in the interior. The Ministers of War are moved speedily from one to Rosario things are very dull, and a general feeling of discontent pervades on the subject of the overdue treasury bills, and repudiated national bonds.

Our attention has been called to the non-publication by Sr. Dominguez of the monthly receipts and disbursements of the Government House. When Sr. Riestra was min ster, every month regularly these accounts were publish ed. Now, however, there is no such thing known. We cannot say we are surprised at Sr. Dominguez, as literary men are nearly always bad accountants, but we are astonished at Governor Saavedra, a man of much practical knowledge and such commercial training should permit the public to be kept in the dark upon matters of such importance.

Our somniferous colleague advises the public that Mr Patrick Wynne is willing to pay costs and fine for a slander published in the 'Standard,' respecting the stealing of sheep, &c. This subject is of considerable interest to peculiar interest in cases of robbery, &c. This is the soft same journal which accused us of stealing candles and subsequently, by inference, of loans with undisguised satisfaction, that this 'pilfering colleague,' notwithstanding the genius of a quasi half countrywoman whose writings will exist as long as the file of the 'Nacional' for the month of June will last, is on the threshold of another and a better world. Our spirited French colleague published every evening, and the recent rise of ten dollars in the subscription, has done for our later colleague

The new paper in Montevideo, 'La Independencia,' seems a regular firebrand affair. We regret to perceive that it descends to such low personalities its attack upon the Varelas is scurrilous and unbecoming. No matter how friendly we suffer with the 'Tribuna' and its editors, we can never countenance an attack upon their private character. It is the scandalous system of personal abuse which was mainly depreeate. No matter what the 'Tribune' people may think fit to write—we matter what the 'Tribune' people may think fit to write—we matter what the 'Tribune' people may think fit to write—we

Spread will deny honorable interment to an Assembly which abdicates reason, justice, and economy, in so flagitious a manner

Is there no one among our legislators who will stand in the breach, and point out to the guardians of mankind the lesser Statists Palladins of their rights is in danger? That a modern Cyclops has aimed a fatal blow at the tree of Liberty is the most we trust plant ourselves to Colonia or Monte Video, where a more hospitable shore invites us? The Reforms and Slip-Rails come hither (of duty) have they stronger claims than the city papers, on Argentine gratitude?

We do not know it. The art of Faust and Guttenburg has triumphed over more formidable enemies than Dr. Sarsfield and his Reims. The planet called Free Press thrives in adversity, 'crescisen vegetior resurgit;" and we have no doubt the barbarous edict will be revoked, and its enactors confess their crime by a tardy death-bed repentance.

MISCELLANY.

LAUNCH OF A MAMMOTH STEAMBOAT.—The new steamboat Dictator, built by John Ellis and Sons for the New Jersey Steamboat Company, to run between her city and Albany was successfully launched from the foot of Tenth-street, East River, yesterday, at noon. This is said to be the largest steamboat ever built. Her dimensions are as follows—Length, 407 feet; extreme breadth, 83; depth of hold, 22 feet 10 1/2 feet. She is intended to draw but five feet of water when fully loaded, and will thus be able to cross the bar at all a ages of the tide. She has three saloon decks, with 300 state rooms, and will be able to accommodate 5000 passengers. In the course of people assembled to witness the launch, comprising a goodly number of ladies and many of our prominent citizens, among whom were Maxwell Westervelt, the Hon Daniel Drew, Captains Comstock, Jewitt, Ellridge, Driggs, and John, of Sandy Hook, of Philadelphia, and others. The launch was in every way successful, and free from accident

Adeline Patti has paid a visit to Meyerbeer, who is living a jolly nabob life in Paris. He was very kind and complimentary to her, told her she was a second Malibran, and accompanied her on the piano while she sang some of his songs, &c., &c. Agnes, which reports the story, discerning the old maestro as quite touched by the attendance of the little American songstress, as he called her.

LOCKJAW COMES.—In New York a young lady ran a rusty nail into her foot. The injury produced a sudjaw of such a malignant character that the physicians pronounced her recovery hopeless. An old nurse then took her in hand, and applied pounded beef root to her foot, removing them as often as they became dry. The result was almost complete cure.

BRITISH HOSPITAL,

July 8th 1863.

Mr. Editor,—You may possibly inform us why an Englisman is refused admittance to the British Hospital. A friend of mine went there on Monday, offered 20 $ a day, but they would not let him in, unless he paid 40 $. We wish to know what Parliament intended, for what we pay our subscriptions. One of us gave 2000$. Is it for Hotel, or an hospital. We have never had any benefit from the institution, but we subscribed from the first. We are—Two Englishmen.

Ounces opened to-day, at 1/1 to 12. at 469, which was 2 dollars under yesterday's price. They re d from during the day, and sold at 18 past 12 o'clock as high as 469 1/2. after which they dropped a little and closed at 459 1/2; cash sales, 1972. Foreign Coin—50 ounces at 458 1/2

The ounce market, notwithstanding great sales on time, seems very firm. The large amount sold for Saturday was regarded as a disposition on the part of holders of specie to realize at advanced prices.

It is urged by some that the scarcity of the city of paper must eventually bring the ounces down, and that it the Bank continue to refuse to discount, merely will be worth m re than gold. We cannot of course offer an opinion on the subject, but we may merely give our readers a hint of what people who are supposed to possess superior information upon such matters, say, if the bank should refuse to discount collecting in 26 per cent of all bills falling due, it will tend to make money very stiff indeed.

On the Bolsa to-day there was a good deal of discussion respecting the Free Banking Bill, as sent up to Congress. The general opinion was that the proposed change is exactly what we've called for, as our readers will recollect, namely, that the National Bonds should be made available as their market value, and not at Dr Sarsfield's estimate. We are glad to see our remarks had at least some effect, as it would be a monstrous thing to force a value upon securities, which are at present unmarketable

We regret to say that a very serious complaint has been made against the Finance Minister. A certain party presented what is termed a coupon for interest, but, like shark infarmed the holder that he must return in ten days, when he would be given a check, which would be paid 15 days after presentation. This is what the minister terms cash payments

Our Montevideo correspondent makes a bloomder in his letter this moment respecting Mr Jacobyn, who, instead of having left for Europe, is, we believe, a broker on the Bolsa, and left the Bank, we believe, on the very best of terms
